

Special-status Species License Article

Prior to construction of new Project features on National Forest Service land that may affect FS special-status species and their habitat (i.e., FS sensitive and/or management indicator species), the Licensee shall prepare a Biological Evaluation (BE) to describe the potential impact of the action on the species or its habitat. For State or Federally listed species, federal candidate species, California species of special concern, and California fully protected species, the Licensee shall prepare a Biological Assessment (BA) or other required document and obtain any necessary permits or approvals.
